

The Cuisine of the Algarve 11

A gastronomical guide to the region

Culinary Purism 12
A Little Bit of History 18

From Sea to Market 23

*About catching and selling fish,
along with a few unsolved mysteries*

Some Traditional
Fishing Techniques 24
Halfway House:
The Fish Auction 30

The Name of the Fish 39

A subjective rundown of the species you can expect to find at an Algarvian fish market, with comments on their quality and uses

The Ichthyological Upper Class 40
Smaller Species of Sea Bream 45
Enjoy at Your Peril 49
Commendable Strangers 51

In an Octopus's Garden 73

What you need to know about crustaceans, molluscs and echinoderms

Cephalopods from
Head to Toe 74
Sundry Crustaceans 78
Shellfish Potpourri 83

What to Do with the Fish? 89

*Essential advice on preparing and cooking;
tips, recipes and methods*

Crucial First Steps 90
Born to Barbecue 95
Fried Fish at a Glance 99
Oven Baked Fish 102

Cooking Cool 121

How to cure, dry and prepare raw fish

Fish Fillets, in Salt or Sour Marinade 122
A Tangy Dish from South America 126
Fish Salad in Restaurants 128
Dried Delicacies 130

Between Land and Sea 133

On the beauty of the Ria Formosa and the breakers' hidden dangers, not only for vacationers

Visiting the Ria Formosa 134
Putting the Nature to Use 138
Like Fish in Water 145

Appendix 147

Bibliography 148
Index of Fishes and Dishes 149
Acknowledgements 152

Contents

Blue Fish and the Taste of Chlorine 33
Off to the
Fish Market 35

Sardines, Mackerel & Co 54
Dried Cod and Fish Fingers 57
Swordfish and Needlefish 61
All Kinds of Tuna 63

Boneless Fish 66
Eels and Flatfish 68

A Brief Look at Boiled Fish 106
Preparing Salt Cod 109
Seafood Cookery 112
How to Cook an Octopus 116

